CINCINNATI, O.—Following its annual custom the Cincinnati lodge of B'nai B'rith and the Auxiliary will hold their picnic this year at California Day Camp here Sunday, August 10. A general picnic committee and an athletic committee, and an Auxiliary picnic committee have been named by President Clarence J. Heldman.

3 From Here Attend
A. Z. A. Meet In Texas

Buddy Freeman, president of the local A. Z. A.; Bill Weinstein and Abe Greenstein, members of the chapter, left here this week for Kerrville, Texas, where they will take part in the sessions of the 18th annual A. Z. A. encampment from July 12 to 18. The three will continue on an automobile tour of the West before returning to the city.

Cheering broke out from the throats of 119 refugee children shown at right above as their steamer the S. S. Mouzinho sailed into view of the Statue of Liberty as they arrived in New York harbor recently from Lisbon where they had been collected from all parts of war-torn Europe by the United States Committee for the Care of European Children. A typical group were the five brothers and sisters, lower left, whose father died in a German Concentration Camp and whose mother passed away in a French Internment Camp.

Art Rose Still In Coma, But Improving;
Gets 3 Blood Transfusions After Accident

Special
BARBERTON, O.—Lying unconscious in Citizen's Hospital here, Art E. Rose, head of the Rose Tire Co., Inc., of Indianapolis, was in a serious condition from injuries suffered when his car ran over an embankment near here Monday evening during a rainstorm. Mr. Rose was removed to the hospital here and is under the care of Dr. J. K. Berman of Indianapolis, who was called here immediately.

A total of three blood transfusions were given Mr. Rose. Mr.

ART ROSE

State police found the car demolished lying in a ditch near the embankment on the curve where the car skidded and overturned. Mr. Rose was thrown clear of the car, and because his pocketbook could not be located for some time, was unidentified until the automobile license was checked with Indiana state police.

Mr. Rose's relatives were called to his bedside Tuesday, and at present are staying here. They are his wife, Mrs. Rose; Mr. and Mrs. Lou Leventhal, Mrs. Selig, Eddie Rose, Henrietta Rothbard and Joe Rothbard, all of Indianapolis. Senator Jacob Weiss flew here Tuesday, but returned to Indianapolis Thursday.

Mrs. Isaac Rice of Lafayette celebrates her seventieth birthday today, July 11. Dr. and Mrs. L. Pearlman are having a family dinner at the Country Club in her honor. B'nai B'rith Seeks Torah Scrolls for Army Chapels

Special
WASHINGTON, D. C.—B'nai B'rith is launching a nation-wide campaign among its 1,000 men's and women's units to obtain Sefer Torahs (Scrolls of the Law) for use during Jewish religious services to be held in the non-sectarian chapels being built at more than 500 army posts and camps by the Federal government, it was announced here by Henry Monsky, president of B'nai B'rith and chairman of its national defense committee.

Wherever necessary B'nai B'rith will purchase Sefer Torahs but an intensive effort will be made to have lodges and auxiliaries borrow from local synagogues extra Torahs, provided they are in perfect condition, for use in army chapels, Mr. Monsky said. Arrangements for this national B'nai B'rith project were cleared through the Jewish Welfare Board and its national religious chairman, Dr. David de Sola Pool, of New York City.

All of the Sefer Torahs provided by B'nai B'rith will be intrusted to the camp representatives of the Jewish Welfare Board, who will guarantee their proper care. Pending the completion of the army chapels, the Sefer Torahs will also be made available for Jewish religious services held at centers adjacent to army camps or at temporary chapels in the camps themselves.

All Torahs that are borrowed will be returned after the emergency has ended. Torahs that are purchased by B'nai B'rith units will be turned over to Jewish religious institutions.

The civilian population, especially the Jewish population, must get behind and aid the civilian sufferers in Britain. The Jewish Section of the Interfaith Committee of Catholics, Protestants and Jews has underwritten this effort. The Indianapolis quota is $2,000.00 for a mobile kitchen or a home for war orphans in Britain, and must be raised immediately."

A group of workers have opened the drive by individual solicitation, but gifts may be mailed to The Jewish Post, or if desired, a call can be made to The Jewish Post office, LI 3403 and a certificate will be delivered immediately.

NO RETRACTION

Well, perhaps an objection is better than no reaction at all! Joe Tuchman confusedly found himself the object of congratulations following the reading of this column last week. It seems that some persons wrongly concluded that Joe was engaged when they heard he had "loaned" his fraternity pin—however, that is not the case. The case rests.

WITH THE ARMY

Standing lonesomely in Ayres last week was Sam Azen—the one and only—just returned from a two week d—, er, pleasure trip in Chicago with Roy Brill. The two were celebrating Roy's advent into the army, and Sam's in the near future. Roy is now residing at Fort Thomas in Kentucky. Lucky boy. Most of the local Jewish Shelby soldiers were "back home in Indiana" over the holiday. Leonard Larman was taking life easy in his convertible; Harold Caplan back, playing an off-again-on-again game with Annette Herman, or should I say mad-again-glad-again? Henry Podkin returned at a most opportune time, his birthday—which was celebrated Saturday night in festive manner at Westlake with Marian Berger, Fred Tuchman (another visiting Shelbyite), Rae Lee Binzer, Marcie Goldstein and Benny Linder. Tales of camp life were many and varied. But no matter if the lads may not find it the easiest mode of life, there certainly is no doubt that it has given them all a fine healthy glow.

ROMEO

Melvin Unger and Billy Weinstein at the Pole last week, Bill just recuperating from a hasty trip to Evansville—reason? I said, "Juliette?" and he didn't deny it, so I guess it was.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH?

Celebrating the Fourth in a big way were Ruth Dorman and Morrie Greenberg, who were married in the afternoon. Ironical that they should wed on Independence Day. Morrie Cantor was the object of envious glances that evening when he stepped out with the bride's cousin, Ruth Weisman of Chicago. "Nobody knows the trouble I've got" sang Bernie Hyman Friday, the fourth, which might just as well have been the thirteenth considering all the unlucky things that happened to Bernie when all he wanted to do was enjoy a picnic with his date, Mary Louise Falender and some others. And with opposite good luck, Betty Helman Maurer won about $28 at Beverly Hills in Cincinnati Thursday night. Betty and Julie, Jack and Estelle Maurer, Harold Stolkin, Sam Smulyan and Manuel Bell represented Indianapolis. Adele Gold, Mimi Bluestein and Evelyn Stein athletically watching their Detroit escorts playing games at Little America. Ruth Rosenthal with her family and Lou Silvers in Miami. Milt Fox and Marion Goldsmith at Turkey Run; also Max Stein and Emily Peltz, Joe Rabin, Eileen Satz, Sid Izaacs. Leonard Berkowitz lonesomely eating at Sam's Subway before his usual date with Sonny Miller. Marge Rabb on a trip through Wisconsin and Chicago. It's hard to decide whether the lake, the trip, or the visit in Chicago in her cousin's penthouse made Marge most enthusiastic. Butzie Olshewitz and Walton Sicanoff reunited with their buddy Art Goldberg in his new hometown. Herman Dieter visiting his brother for the holiday, preparing for a trip to Miami, and bringing news of Louisville to Naptown. Herman, upon being doubted Thursday, dashed into the house, up two flights of stairs, and back, in order to prove that he still retained his S. A. M. pin and was free as the breeze. Wonder why he is so anxious to prove the fact?

IN THE FIRELIGHT

Jokes flying fast and furiously around the campfire at Florence Lustgarten's Friday night in between bites of steak. Someone told an especially funny one, and ten minutes later Flo started to laugh. Yes, she got it. Joan Weiss, Dave Miller, Art Barrett, Ruby and Max Zimet, Claire Goldberg were some of the faces reflected in the firelight.

AT MICHIGAN CITY

Bernie Arshop had two alternatives Saturday evening in Michigan City; because of the scarcity of rooms, or rather a definite lack of them, he would have to sleep either in jail or in the hospital. So Bernie slept in the hospital midst all the pretty nurses and sick patients—what a combination! Helen Klein and her Lieutenant were enjoying a summer stock presentation of Sherlock Holmes, as were Lou Hoodwin and Ethel Kaplan. Was hailed on the resort street by hometown Natalie Stolkin and Jack Larman, and Chicagoans Ralph Stolkin and Mart Friedman—just riding. Poor Molly Litvak suffered a hot case of sunburn—and homesickness. A day on that, or any, beach can cure anything, almost. Incidentally, for the best short story of the conclave I refer you to Morris Bryan and his candid shots—they sum it up nicely.

BE PREPARED

Sigurd Rosenfield certainly remembers his boy scout training. Evidence: At Milt Bliden's house recently Bob Bornstein, Mike Glassner, Milt and Sigurd gathered to play bridge on an unusually sweltering evening. Sigurd conveniently arrived with an electric fan. Jeannie Sacks is off again! This time to far-off California to see what she can see—and there's plenty to be seen there. Excitement on the river when a beer-drinking motor boater upset the canoe in which Bernard Silverstein, Morris Bryan and Martin Bottingheimer were enjoying the Fourth. The three fellows and their belongings were capsized into the river, but no harm was done except a thorough soaking and the loss of Martin's car keys.

Fox Gives Fox

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK.—An $11,000 platinum fox, termed "the world's finest fur," has been presented to the British War Relief Society by I. J. Fox and will be auctioned in Hollywood for the benefit of the society. The presentation was made at the society's office, attended by Lord and Lady Marley, Frederick Gehle, chairman of the society's fund-raising division; Mr. Fox and Phineas Horowitz, vice-president of the British Zionist Federation, who had originally suggested the gift.

Youth Aliyah Takes 105 Patria Survivors

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON.—Eighty-five juveniles and 20 younger children among the survivors of the refugee ship Patria, which was sunk by an explosion in Haifa harbor last November, have been released from the Athlit internment camp after the Youth Aliyah organization assumed responsibility for their support and education, the Youth Aliyah announced here today.

The children will remain under Youth Aliyah's care until they are able to look after themselves. The older children will immediately begin two years of agricultural training and the younger ones will first be given a general education.

Registration Open For Kirshbaum Camp

As Kirshbaum Center's third annual summer day camp was completing its third week of activity, registrations were still being taken. This week the campers visited the Furnas Ice Cream Company, the Postoffice and the Indianapolis Star. Similar trips to places of interest in Indianapolis are yet to come.

At the last meeting of the Camera Club, Elliot Goodman, its counselor, display an exhibit of his work. The K. D. C. News, the official camp newspaper, has appeared with Milton Miller as editor. Others associated with him on the paper are Stanley Miller, Jack Fivel, Jerry Newbauer and Devera Fisher.

Soviet Air Chief Lithuanian Jew

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON.—Gen. Jacob Shmushkevitch, chief of the Soviet Air Force directing operations against the Luftwaffe, is a Lithuanian Jew, it was revealed here by Lithuanian Jewish circles.

The 43-year-old general was born in Rokishkis, a small town in the Shavli district of Lithuania. His father, a tailor, still lives in the town, with his wife mending the trousers and packets of the townspeople.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Jewish Aviation Group Seeks Applicants.

To the Editor:

The Hanhalat Plugot Hechalutz has decided to start a new group for primary training in aviation. This letter then is a call to American Jewish Youth! We urge those who are interested to send in their replies immediately! The new unit will begin training on August 1, 1941. The requirements for application are:

1. Age—18 to 25.
2. Excellent health.
3. Good eyesight.
4. Height, minimum, 5 ft. 4 in.

The applicants will be examined by a Government Doctor. Only those who will receive a Commercial Pilots Doctors permit, will be accepted.

The program for the group (we believe that the primary training will take from 3 to 4 months) reads as follows:

1. Flying—20 hours of dual instruction, 35 hours of solo flying.
2. Ground instruction—Study of Meteorology, Navigation and Civil Aeronautic rules.
3. Shopwork—10 hours a week of actual shopwork and 2 hours a week of mechanical instruction.

As you can see, the actual training requires patience, good-will of the student and time. This explains why, among all the Plugot Hechalutz, aviation training cannot be limited to evenings or week-ends, but must be conducted daily.

The aviation students will live together as a distinct, autonomous unit at the Hechalutz Farm in Creamridge, New Jersey. They will receive maintenance and free training.

All applications must be in the office of the Plugot no later than July 25.

We Hear From a Soldier

To the Editor:

Several weeks ago, my mother, Mrs. Lena Brown, wrote me and told me of your generous offer to send me your welcome paper providing I wrote you a letter. As it turned out you have beat me to it and sent me the paper without waiting for my snail-like letter. To say that I deeply appreciate your paper is to say very little really as I am trying to find a better way to thank you for your thoughtfulness.

Although I am supposed to be past the age where one gets homesick, I could not say I was not homesick without trying to fool myself. The Post fills in a gap of my life here in Hawaii that would otherwise be totally empty.

Since I have never taken part in Jewish life but little when I was

Judge I. M. Golden, B'nai B'rith Leader, Dies Suddenly In Home at Age of 63

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Judge I. M. Golden, national vice-president of B'nai B'rith, and one of the outstanding Jewish leaders of the Pacific Coast, died suddenly at his home here last week, at the age of 63.

Funeral services coincided with special memorial services in the Washington headquarters of B'nai B'rith, where department heads and staff members assembled to hear the B'nai B'rith ritual and eulogy of Judge Golden delivered by Maurice Bisgyer, secretary of the Order. At Mackinac Island, Michigan, Henry Monsky, president of B'nai B'rith, paid tribute to Judge Golden during the annual convention of District No. 6.

Judge Golden, a past president of District No. 4, was also a past president of the Pacific Coast region of the Zionist Organization of America, and its honorary president until his death. He was also a member of the national executive committee of the Z. O. A. He was a delegate to the World Zionist Congress two years ago, and while there he conferred with B'nai B'rith leaders from all parts of Europe.

He was also vice president of the board of governors of San Francisco's Bar Association, and a president of Congregation Beth Israel here.

Judge Golden was the principal speaker at the Supreme Grand Lodge Convention banquet here in Indianapolis in 1935.

60 ARRIVE IN PALESTINE

JERUSALEM.—Sixty refugees from the Balkans this week arrived in Palestine from Turkey, 45 on a Polish ship and 15 on a small boat. The 15 included eight Jewish immigrants.

Investigates Letter Hitting Florida Jews

MIAMI.—The Florida regional office of the Anti-Defamation League started an investigation of the circumstances surrounding the sending of an anonymous letter through the mails attacking the Jewish community in Palm Beach. The letter signed "Palm Beach Vigilantes" bewails "the recent rental and sale of Palm Beach property to Jews" and speaks of a "Semitic invasion of Palm Beach." Actually there is barely a handful of Jews in this community. After making other false charges, the writers excuse their anonymity on the ground that "they do not feel free to sign their names because of the necessity of protecting their business and their families from reprisal."

ARMY NOTES

The greater number of the Jewish chaplains in the U. S. army are graduates of Yeshivah. . . . One is a graduate of the Masefta, the ultra-Chassidic orthodox sect which wears sideburns and will not look at women. . . . To meet the needs of the more orthodox soldiers who will not eat "treifa" meat, the canteen at Fort Dix carries kosher salami and other kosher meat products. . . . Of approximately 1,400 Jewish boys serving in the 27th Division at Ft. McEllan, some 1,000 attend regularly the religious services. . . . Lt. Col. Marcus is the Division Adjutant. . . . The chaplain is Rabbi Joseph Henry Leif, son of Lt. Col. Leif, who served in the first World War. . . . A novel way of sending off his son to the army was chosen by the Jewish poet, Ephraim Auerbach. . . . On the day his son was called to service as lieutenant, Auerbach published in a New York Yiddish newspaper a touching poem expressing the feelings of a father being parted from his son.

CONVENTION ECHOES

Rabbi Lelyveld had his hands full at the annual meeting of the Central Conference of American Rabbis in Atlantic City. . . . In the first place, he had all the responsibilities of any rabbi attending the convention. . . . Second, he was in charge of the publicity for the convention and was responsible for the press releases. . . . While busy with these releases, he received a release from his hometown, Hamilton, O. . . . Mrs. Lelyveld gave birth to boy No. 2 in the rabbi's home. . . . Two of the rabbis at the Convention are the offsprings of mixed marriages. . . . One of them is a strenuous opponent of intermarriage. . . . Rabbi Reichler of Brooklyn lost his hat at the Convention. . . . "Don't mind it," a delegate consoled him. "Reform Jews don't wear hats anyway." . . . Another delegate objected. . . . It was worse for a Reform Jew to lose his hat, because he would not be able to take it off, he argued. . . . After one rabbi had made a very eloquent discourse on the matter of existence of God, a speaker arose and said he wished someone could make an equally eloquent speech proving the existence of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations. . . . The speaker was Adolph Rosenberg, president of the Union.

EYES ON PALESTINE

President Roosevelt and Congress will soon be flooded with petitions requesting that the governments of the United States and Britain form a Joint Commission on Palestine Affairs. . . . Signatures for this petition are being collected by the Friends of a Jewish Palestine. . . . The petition suggests that the first task of the proposed commission should be creation of a Jewish National Committee, composed of all Jewish groups interested in Palestine, with

Messerschmidts For Sale

TEL AVIV.—A public auctioneer's loud announcement, "Messerschmidts for Sale," attracted hundreds of curious persons here to see the machines which are bringing destruction to a large part of the world. Finally a Jewish iron dealer bought the remnants of three Messerschmidts shot down in Libya for 25 pounds each. He made a quick profit by selling small parts of the planes for souvenirs.

Turkey Hears Jews Moved From Nazi Path

ISTANBUL.—The majority of the 45,000 Jews of Czernowitz, capital of Bukovina, succeeded in leaving the city prior to its occupation by the Nazi army, it was reported here. Most of them have been permitted by the Soviet authorities to evacuate into Soviet interior, especially into the Jewish collective farms of Southern Ukraine, the report stated. Prior to retreating from Czernowitz, the Soviet soldiers set the city afire.

German reports released here described the shooting of hundreds of Jews in Minsk as "snipers." They said that "Minsk is now a heap of smoking ruins."

School Teachers Ordered To Enlist

JERUSALEM.—Obligatory enlistment for military training of all unmarried teachers in the Palestine Hebrew school system, between the ages of 20 and 30, was decided upon by the Jewish Board of Education, which is a part of the Jewish National Council.

Simultaneously it was announced here that more than 1,150 Jewish young men who had undergone military training in special camps during May and June have enlisted in the army to serve in the infantry and in transport units.

More men fail through ignorance of their strength than through knowledge of their weakness.

AL SEGAL Speaks on Ostracism

There has been much ado lately in the public press about certain doings in the Jewish community of Louisville. (Time had a piece about it in its department of religion.)

In Louisville it has been proposed and approved by five of the congregations that Jews who are not affiliated with synagogues shall not be entitled to the services that synagogues have to offer, such as funeral and marriage rites. However, poor Jews who couldn't afford to pay dues to a synagogue will be charitably treated to everything that's due a Jew at death.

The matter of the unaffiliated Jews is one of our private controversies and it was painful to see it tossed around in the general press.

If the religious ostracism—you might call it excommunication—of the unaffiliated Jew were something proposed in one community alone, it would scarcely be worth noticing, except as a quaint survival of medievalism. But it is being seriously discussed in many communities and, in fact, was for awhile an accepted practice in the temples of the town in which I live. It was dropped in deference to hostile Jewish opinion.

I contemplate the unhappy fate of one whom we shall call Mr. Segal and who, let us imagine, lived and died in Louisville. Mr. Segal is dead but his soul continues to abide in Louisville because the rabbis have been forbidden to commend it to eternity in paradise.

True, there is one Louisville rabbi who has said no to all this. He will serve gladly anyone who comes to him. But this rabbi is of the Reform persuasion. Mr. Segal's people want him blessed and commended only under orthodox auspices.

Who was this Segal whose soul is homeless in Louisville? He was an unaffiliated Jew. This is to say, Mr. Segal did not belong to any of the Louisville synagogues. He was not too poor to pay dues, nor did he feel less Jewish because he did not belong to a synagogue.

I do not defend this Segal but merely make an objective statement of his religious attitude.

Mr. Segal believed a good religious life was possible in the solitude of his own heart. He did not quarrel with other people who, for religious expression, preferred to congregate in synagogues. He even approved of that and said if in that way people can best approach God I am for it.

He himself was able to retire into the solitude of his heart and make his synagogue there. He did not go about arrogantly boasting of the superiority of this private synagogue of his. He respected everybody's synagogue and church, and disputed no man's way of approaching God.

Moreover, Mr. Segal did his part in the Jewish life of Louisville and in the general life as well. He gave to all the drives, secular and Jewish; he was a good citizen and was concerned with purity in Louisville's politics. He was in all things a decent person.

Such was the late Mr. Segal.

Yet now as he lay dead there was no congregation in Louisville, except that Reform temple, willing to honor him and provide him with those credentials by which a man is religiously translated to the life eternal. His family goes from congregation to congregation, but no, the presidents of the congregations say they can do nothing for Mr. Segal.

There is the rule that excommunicates him from the house and comforts of Israel because he was not a dues-paying member. Why, his family is asked, didn't he think of the future of his soul while he was living? Why didn't he pay dues? If he had belonged to a congregation and paid dues he would have insured himself for commendation to the Most High.

So Mr. Segal's soul, unattended by the proper services, keeps on lingering in Louisville. I am not saying anything against Louisville as a place in which to linger. Louisville is, indeed, a lovely, mellow city with something of the charm of the South and the vigor of the North. Mr. Segal's soul wouldn't mind lingering in Louisville and going about doing what good it can. But he feels horribly troubled to see his wife and children suffering acutely because the rabbis weren't allowed to say for him the words that would have sent him to Paradise.

In the meantime, other souls that paid dues are blessed into the bliss of eternal life. Mr. Segal's soul observes that some of these in their lifetime did not walk in all the ways required of man, but they paid dues. Mr. Segal's homeless soul looks at them charitably. Well, well, he sighs simply.

All of this suggests that Israel may not justly reject from its honors the unaffiliated Jew whose one fault may be that he didn't pay dues. He may have had a synagogue in his heart and the everlasting light was burning there. He may have walked with God all his days.

What synagogue president may set himself up impudently to say: "He wasn't one of us and there's nothing doing for him."

I like much better an invitation that appears in bronze on a wall of one of our Methodist churches:

Our Invitation

To all who mourn and need comfort
To all who are tired and need rest
To all who are friendless and want friendship
To all who are lonely and want companionship
To all who are homeless and want sheltering love
To all who pray, and to all who do not, but ought—Welcome!

(We are not building to make Methodists. We will be glad to have folks join any church they desire.)

This, it seems to me, is the authentic spirit of religious service. It is also the spirit of Adath Israel, the Louisville congregation that refused to join the boycott against unaffiliated Jews. Its rabbi, Joseph Rauch, welcomes all who need to be served.

(I should say in conclusion that the unaffiliated Mr. Segal who is the subject of this piece is not the one who writes this column. He is a hypothetical Segal, another Segal altogether, though I can sympathize with the fellow. I, myself, am a dues-paying member, am never in arrears, and so expect finally to get all that's coming to me.

Heroic Death In Action Makes News In London

Special
LONDON.—How a Palestine Jewish soldier on the Libyan front died heroically in helping to clear a passage for a British force near Tobruk has just been reported to military authorities here.

Joseph Breitman, 24 years old, born in Plock, Poland, is the hero. With a group of other soldiers he volunteered to cut the wire entanglements of No-Mans land and get through a mine-field to pick off an enemy machinegun nest. He led the advance but as he neared the enemy position, he was hit by a bullet. Although in great agony, he managed to crawl towards the enemy through a hail of bullets. When he was near the enemy's position, Breitman staggered to his feet and threw two hand grenades. Perfectly aimed. They silenced the machineguns. Breitman's comrades rushed the position. The young Jewish hero died several hours later in hospital. His last question was: "Did I get the Nazis?"

Breitman came to Palestine two years ago from Poland.

a view to drafting a Constitution for Palestine and supervising the election of a Palestine Government. . . . The Jewish National Committee and the Joint American-British Commission, when formed, would also consider a plan for securing international loans for transportation of Jews to Palestine. . . . Washington reporters understand that the State Department has reached a tacit understanding with the British Government that no change in the fundamental status of Palestine be made without the consent and approval of the U. S. A. . . . This, they say, amounts actually to the fact that the American Government has received veto power on British plans with regard to Palestine. . . . Passenger air service to Palestine on Dutch planes from Batavia has been resumed. . . . It will operate twice weekly on the long flight from Batavia to Lydda, Palestine.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

Speaking of rabbis, how are they in the less serious hours? . . . Here is a little ditty sung by Hebrew Union College students:

I have a son who's a Rav to be
He goes to H. U. C.
He doesn't drink or swear;
He studies Talmud there.
He doesn't smoke or chew;
He goes to Hebrew U.
How in the devil did you get to know?
He told me so.

Our Film Folks

• News of Jewish Hollywood Stars •

By HELEN SIGMOND

HOLLYWOOD.—Nearly every accredited news correspondent in Hollywood received a letter urging him not to attend the preview of "Underground." It appealed to "patriotic Americans with the privilege of free and fair thought to refrain from dignifying falsehood by attending such a motion picture." It asked, "in fair play, to remember the thousands of German-Americans who will be done a great injustice by that film."

(There isn't a single reference in the picture to German-Americans.) It disclaimed any such subversive movement in Germany and concluded that "such pictures, which stir hatred against nations, should be boycotted by all patriots who believe in the right of countries to choose their own destinies."

The letter was signed "Carl Mueller" of the German-American Order for Patriotic Mobilization. Investigation showed neither the organization nor the signer were to be found at the address given. Now the press boys are wondering whether it was Nazi propaganda or just the bad dream of a publicity lad on an off-day.

Not surprising is the news that a Catholic newspaper in France was suspended for criticizing "Jew Suss," Nazi-made anti-Semitic film. But it is good to know the French spirit is not crushed! The reviewer called it "anti-Christian, anti-French," and finished off with, "God, what stupidity that picture is!"

Ultra-Moderne: A building being constructed in the Dutch East Indies will be the first theater to have a bomb-proof cellar.

Mervyn LeRoy topped the "Bundles for Moscow" gag by claiming that he had been approached for contributions to "Kreplach for Kremlin."

Hollywoodings: That Fannie Brice-John Conti duet sounds in a marital key. Chaplin's "Dictator" has already grossed $3,400,000 in the domestic market, Maxie Rosenbloom has his Rochester—his name is Rastus Shapiro. When

THAT JEWISH ARMY

We wonder where Broadway columnist Danton Walker got this story, which he published in his column last week . . . "A story is due to break soon," he announced, "about an underground Jewish army operating in Palestine, numbering about 10,000 fully equipped men, with a reserve of 15,000 others, ready to defend their homeland when the time comes. . . . Their arms, the story goes, were bought from the Arabs." . . . The story, of course, is pure (if not kosher) baloney. . . . The official Zionist leadership still contends that nothing can be done about a Jewish army before the British government permits its formation. . . . The New Zionist Organization, on the other hand, believes that Great Britain's hand must be forced by Jewish action. . . . So, before long the New Zionist Organization is going to start a registration campaign in this country asking Jewish youths whether they would volunteer in a Jewish army providing their draft obligations and U. S. government regulations permit. . . . The Revisionist leaders think that if a sufficient number of Jews signify their intention of joining up, British official circles will move faster on the whole proposition.

WAR ECHOES

Should Hitler succeed in his blitzkrieg against Russia, he will sponsor the most stupendous pogroms in Jewish history. . . . This in line with his promise to "save" Russia by exterminating her "Jewish Communists." . . . Incidentally, don't miss Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver's chapter about Jewish life in the Soviet Union, in his book "The World Crisis and Jewish Survival." . . . It is a courageous, sincere appraisal which many of the rabid Zionist anti-Sovietists will find far from pleasing. . . . We don't, as a rule, have much confidence in Mr. Wythe Williams' predictions or "private information." . . . We hope, however, that he was right the other day when he announced that he knows that Julius Streicher, anti-Semite Number One of Naziland, has been executed. . . . And when he told us that Mr. Hitler is a virtual prisoner in the hands of the German army we fervently murmured: "Alleweil." . . . Members of the Nazi embassy staff at Washington are taking bets that the Red Army will have ceased to be a military factor by July 27th. . . . They've found few American military experts ready to risk their money by taking up such a wager, but it is said that several Soviet embassy staff members have, through stooges, placed quite a bit of money on the proposition that July 27th will see the Russo-German war in a still undecided state.

SCREEN SHADOWS

The best line on Hitler's attack on Russia comes from Hollywood. . . . It seems that the Hollywood generals were as amazed as all the other military experts at the sudden Nazi onslaught on Adolf's former pact partner. . . . But James K. McGuinness, who apparently burned many a dram of midnight oil over "Mein Kampf," has explained it all to the gentlemen of the studios. . . . There's nothing puzzling about the whole business, he claims. . . . Hitler has simply gone back to shooting his first script. . . . Flash! Charlie Chaplin is very seriously considering the making of a new Hitler film, to deal with the story of Hitler as a prisoner on St. Helena. . . . He is said to have told some of his intimates that he thinks he'd better start now, lest he miss the bus (referring to the fact that it takes him two years to make a picture). . . . So that you won't be disappointed, we'll tell you right now that the British film "Prime Minister," which will be coming to this country in the fall, is not about Winston Churchill. . . . Its hero is Disraeli. . . . Among the recent arrivals from Europe is a gentleman by the name of Rabinowitz, who until a year ago was undisputedly the outstanding producer of French films. . . . Before that he had been a top-notch producer of German Ufa films. . . . When Hitler took over Germany, Dr. Goebbels called on Mr. Rabinowitz with an offer to make him an "honorary Aryan" if he would continue with Ufa and produce Nazi propaganda films. . . . Rabinowitz decided without thanks, and moved to France. . . . Last year, when Otto Abetz became Hitler's gauleiter in France, the same offer was again extended to Mr. Rabinowitz. . . . His reply was to leave for America at the earliest possible moment. . . . And now Hollywood is hot on his trail.

Jewish Naval Officer Attains 'Lower Deck'

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LONDON. — Lieutenant Commander M. M. Bright of the Royal Navy, believed to be the only Jew to attain "lower deck" rank, has been awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, it was announced here. The citation said he "set an example of wholehearted devotion to duty."

Bright is former president of a lodge of the Order Akhe Brith Shield of Abraham. He joined the navy as a boy and fought at Gallipoli and Akaba. He was recalled from the retired list at the outbreak of the war and given command of a minesweeper flotilla, after which he was appointed to a position in the Admiralty.

Wise Dinner Raises $60,000 For Britain

NEW YORK.—The sum of $60,000, representing contributions from Jews in various sections of the country, was presented to the British War Relief Society by the Jewish Section of the Interfaith Committee for Aid to the Democracies, at a dinner at the Waldorf Astoria Hotel, tendered in honor of Dr. Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress. The contribution brings the total money contributed to the British War Relief Society through the Jewish Section to more than $250,000. The dinner marked the dedication of a children's nursing home to be established somewhere in England, on a non-sectarian basis, in the name of Dr. Wise.

J. D. C. Gets Liner For Casablanca Call

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
LISBON.—The Joint Distribution Committee has arranged for the Portuguese liner Guinea to make a special call at Casablanca and pick up 200 refugees with American visas who were stranded there when the French ships in which they were proceeding to the United States were halted by orders from Vichy. The Guinea is expected to sail from Casablanca on July 17.

A delegate of the HIAS-ICA Emigration Association has left for Casablanca from Marseille to aid in the refugees' departure and investigate the status of internees there, many of whom hold visas for Mexico and South American countries.

Coughlin Withdraws America First Aid

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK.—Social Justice, Father Coughlin's weekly magazine, announces withdrawal of support from the America First Committee, complaining that Gen. Robert E. Wood, a leader of the committee, barred hawkers of Social Justice from an America First meeting. The paper declares, "The Christian Front is looking around for leadership in high places—leaders around whom the common people can assemble."

OUR FILM FOLK

Jack Warner got tangled in words the other night, and was thrown for a loss on the ten-yard line of a speech, the M. C. said, "We thank Mr. Warner for every word he tried to say."

Title changes: Gloria Weiman, Hollywood's 15-year-old importation from Delaware, has asked court permission to become Gloria Warren. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Weiman, and her sister likewise ask for the new handle.

Movie data of Europe as revealed by a returning film sales manager: American pictures are still by far the most popular in Europe. They are shown everywhere (even in occupied countries), except Germany and Italy. Only old prints are available . . . have been so much in circulation they are in tatters. In some cases they have lost their story continuity . . . because frayed parts have been snipped out so often. Spain, a rubber-stamp model of Nazism, prefers U. S. product over the Axis variety. In Portugal, Selznick's "Rebecca" and Goldwyn's "Wuthering Heights" were the outstanding hits last year. Film business is booming in Portugal, Switzerland, and Sweden.

Polish Girls Wear Armbands For Safety

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
ZURICH.—Polish girls in the German-occupied provinces wear Jewish armbands when they go out on the streets in order to protect themselves from seizure for the entertainment of the Nazi troops, a neutral observer who has been living in Warsaw and has just succeeded in leaving the country, reported here.

Jewish girls, he declared, are no longer seized for association with the German troops, in belated deference to the racial laws, but hundreds of Polish girls have been conscripted and sent to other countries for the use of the German garrisons there.

HEBREW CALENDAR

Tisha B'abAug. 2

The Editor's Chair:

At the University of North Carolina, my room-mate was Bob Kushner, one of the finest natural athletes I've ever seen. He's now First Lieut. Kushner and is stationed with the air corps at Hickam Field in Hawaii. He was a dentist, one of the finest in Atlanta, where he practiced, and being in the Reserve, got his notice about a half year ago to report within a week. That was a shock, but knowing Bob, and his robust desire to be in the middle of anything that was going on, especially if that goes on involved courage, I knew he'd soon come to enjoy his new life. The letters at first, however, did not seem to indicate any particular happiness about his new life, but lately these letters have become enthusiastic, all about the beauties of Hawaii and his contentment with his present position, and he even offered to "shoot a few Japs out of the sky" for me.

But what started me on this subject was the fact that Bob was due to have an heir, or rather a second heir. For he already has one beautiful son, who is almost his perfect image. When little Stuart was born, I went down to Atlanta for the "briss," and when the new little one's time to appear grew imminent I laughingly wrote Bob that if it was a boy, I'd come to the "briss." Well one day this week I got the telegram announcing the birth of Harry Floyd Kushner, so if you hear from me next in Hawaii, you'll know why.

Al Segal of "Plain Talk" fame, who is also editor of The National Jewish Monthly, official organ of B'nai B'rith, writes last week of a certain community in Indiana where whoever applied for admission to the Jewish country club must first have already been a member of the temple. "If he does not belong to the temple," Mr. Segal writes, "he may not belong to the country club."

There are only three Jewish country clubs in Indiana, Clearcrest in Evansville, the one in Terre Haute (where I suspect what Segal writes about is true) and Broadmoor here. At Broadmoor this year they applied a similar sort of ruling, although along economic lines, when two families that I know of were excluded from membership because of the nature of their business. These two families promptly confirmed Broadmoor's good judgment when in the present Jewish Welfare Fund drive they took out their spite on the poor Jews of Europe and the other worthy

The Regard In Which He Is Held

IF EVER there were any reason to show the real affection the Indianapolis Jewish community and the community of the city at large hold for Art Rose, the unfortunate accident in which he was seriously injured Monday night would provide the very best test. For one thing, and the words are no less sincere because they are from a negative standpoint, Mr. Rose has no enemies, a fact that is not true of so many persons who figure as prominently in local life as does he. To use a trite and hackneyed description, Mr. Rose is always smiling, always ready to help where he can, and albeit and in contradistinction to so many men whom this description fits, never harboring a thought of his own interest, or never with an ulterior motive. It goes without saying that if well wishes could restore Mr. Rose to speedy recovery, he would be back in our midst in the shortest time possible. The entire community was shocked at news of the accident, and awaits word that he is on the road to recovery.

Addition For State Association Program

IN PLANNING the annual meeting of the Indiana State Association of B'nai B'rith, which will not be held until Fall, it seems that some more constructive program, in addition to the reports and election of officers, should be considered. Last year at Terre Haute, two papers were read on pertinent lodge problems, and this innovation should be made a permanent part of the meetings.

Still there is no reason why more matters of vital concern to the welfare of the many lodges in Indiana should not be taken up. For instance, since membership work is so important, why not a meeting of all membership chairmen (usually first vice-presidents) at which a discussion of the best method of conducting drives could be held. The retention committee could hear a paper on the work done in one of the lodges that was outstanding. The same thing is true of program chairmen, and in fact of almost every phase of B'nai B'rith work.

Of course this type of convention would mean more work, but these committee meetings could be so productive of good for the lodges, that the delegates probably would welcome the opportunity to exchange information and ideas.

The General Jewish Council, Is It Coming to Life?

THAT the General Jewish Council is finally stepping down from the position it has doggedly maintained almost to its extinction, of a body separate and apart from the people who made it possible, was made evident by the proceedings of the recent convention of the Central Conference of American Rabbis.

At the opening of the convention, the rabbis heard a committee report which declared that nothing has been done to implement the Pittsburgh agreement of June, 1938, which promised "immediate coordination of the activities" of the four major defense organizations "through the creation of a central body."

There was no hint at this time that the General Jewish Council had heard this criticism or any of the other criticisms voiced throughout the past three years by almost every national and local group including practically all of the members of the G. J. C., too.

Then, from the time the report was made until the day the convention ended, the C. C. A. R. was advised that the General Jewish Council had decided to enlarge its membership and that the Synagogue Council of America, of which the C. C. A. R. is a part, had been invited to a place on the body.

Obviously then, in the few days between the preparation and delivery of the report which did not mention the inclusion of the Synagogue Council in the General Jewish Council, and the end of the sessions of the C. C. A. R., the G. J. C. had done some quick thinking and fast acting. The invitation was extended to forestall the full force of the C. C. A. R. condemnation.

Despite the political nature of this action, it still is important, because it indicates that finally the G. J. C. is taking notice of the criticism its inactivity has aroused.

The Cleveland Jewish Community Council at its meeting June 25 said the same thing in the reverse way when, according to The Jewish Independent, it "urged that machinery be set up promptly for constant exchange of information and advice between the General Jewish Council and communities throughout the country." If the G. J. C. must report to Jewish communities throughout the country then it must become cognizant of the wishes of these communities, a change which is nothing else than revolutionary.

The resolution finally adopted by the C. C. A. R. expressed satisfaction that the G. J. C. (who else has been invited to sit in the Council?) had given recognition to the Synagogue Council but still maintained the suggestion in the report heard at the opening of the convention that a "more comprehensive, responsive and durable" council be formed to replace the present group.

As The Post has said before the G. J. C. has all the best wishes of everybody, and the only desire on anybody's part is that the Council begin to function, and NOW.

Current Comment

B'nai B'rith Magazine Comments On Abolition of Nominating Committee by Indianapolis Lodge—We hear that in the Indianapolis B'nai B'rith lodge there was a spirited election last month. There were two slates of candidates. Instead of officers being automatically promoted from chair to chair there was a contest for all offices except the presidency.

Thus, it appears, Indianapolis threw the doors open to all who sought the opportunity to serve.

A member didn't have to start with being monitor in order, after a long rotation, to attain the higher ranks.

It was believed that this method of election, besides being more democratic, encourages leadership and allows a wider selection of quality. (It was argued that it really doesn't always follow that a brother, having been elected monitor in the first place, is qualified eventually to be president.)

We give this to all the lodges for discussion.

living at home, I realize all the more now after reading your paper what I missed. I assure you it will be a different person who returns, when and if he does, and I have promised myself to take a more active part in Jewish life and affairs if acceptable to those at home. I believe there are many of your readers whom I have had the pleasure of meeting at some time in the past and in return for your generosity I may be able to act as a sort of unofficial Hawaiian correspondent, so to speak. Of course, I do not expect any pay of any kind as it would be something for me to do and I am sure your many readers would probably like to know what sort of place Hawaii is and all about the Jewish people who make it their home, unfortunately of whom there are few. On the other hand there are a large number of Jewish boys in the army, navy and marines from all parts of the United States and if you wish I will try and keep your readers informed as to their life in the service. Also, if there are any questions that any of your readers may have, any question at all, about Hawaii or the Jewish boys in Hawaii, I will be more than glad to answer anyone either individually or through your paper as they may wish, or rather should I say as you wish.

If you believe my letter is of any interest to Post readers you may feel free to print any or all of it as you see fit. Hoping I may be able to return your favor, I am

Editor's Note: Dear Julius, I wrote the editor's chair before I received your letter, but go over and meet Bob, tell him I said, "hello," and you'll forever be grateful to me for introducing you to one of the finest Jewish fellows there are. Write us from time to time, articles or letters for publication, or anything, all of us will be glad to hear from you. If any of our readers wish to write to The Post with questions about Hawaii or the service we will be glad to forward them to you for answering. Army and Navy Committee Seeks Community Cooperation

To the Editor:

The Army and Navy Committee, organized some months ago to deal with the problems incidental to the enlargement of the armed forces of our country, has been functioning in a number of ways.

We would like to call the attention to the Jewish Community to the Committee. If any situation arises in which the Committee can be of service it will appreciate the call.

Inquiries concerning service to soldiers and sailors who are located in this area, or their families who may be visiting them here should be directed to Miss Forman at Kirshbaum Center, WABash 2401.
